Invitation

Dear Members and Colleagues,

We have great pleasure in inviting you to the 1st UP&UK Chapter of IATP for the advancement of Parasitology in Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand. We welcome all the participants to Lucknow, the city of Nawabs. This is the only conference that focuses on human parasitic diseases and is being organised at Sanjay Gandhi Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Lucknow from 27-28th March, 2014. The aim of this conference is to create awareness about parasitic disease for better patients care, teaching and research. We hope that this conference will provide an opportunity for the exchange of scientific ideas and provide a forum to discuss important advances in these fields. With the advent of new and emerging diseases in this part of the world, this conference will provide a platform for dissemination of current research information on these topics. We look forward to your active participation to make this conference a grand success. We have planned to organize a Preconference Workshop entitled “Conventional and Molecular Methods for the Diagnosis of Opportunistic Intestinal Parasites” 27th March, 2015.

1st UP&UK Chapter of IATP chapter will provide an excellent platform for professional interaction among all the medical microbiologists working in various medical colleges and research institutes across UP and UK. This will promote exchange of ideas and research interest in parasitic disease of public health importance. Moreover, it will bring together Microbiologist, parasitologists, infectious disease specialists and clinicians and discuss the latest advances for better patient care, teaching and research as well as important issues relevant to parasitology. Although parasitic infections occur globally, mainly occur in tropical regions, where there is poverty and personal hygiene. India hosts a number of parasitic diseases like Amoebiasis, Giardiasis, Neurocysticercosis, Malaria, Lymphatic Filariasis, Visceral leishmaniasis, Ascariasis, Leishmaniasis and many others. Parasitology is an upcoming branch of Microbiology. Being a tropical country, due to the HIV/AIDS pandemic and increase in the number of patients with organ transplants, opportunistic infections like Cryptosporidiosis, Microsporidiosis, Isosporiasis, Toxoplasmosis and Blastocystis have emerged with significant morbidity and mortality.

Sanjay Gandhi Postgraduate Institute of Medical Sciences (SGPGIMS) is a premier medical institute of India located in Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh. It is a tertiary care referral hospital that caters to patients referred not only Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, but almost from whole of India and neighbouring countries.

Lucknow is located in what was historically known as the Awadh region and still retains its old world charm. Courtly manners, beautiful gardens, poetry, music, fine cuisine and Chikankaari or exquisite shadow-work embroidery on fine muslin cloth patronized by the Persian-loving Shia Nawabs of the city are well known world over. Today, it is a vibrant city that is witnessing an economic boom and is among the top ten fastest growing non-major-metropolitan cities of India.

Famous tourist attractions in the city include Bara Imambara, Chattar Manzil, Jama Masjid, Rumi Darwaza, Bhul Bhulaiya and the Regional Science Centre. Visitors can also shop for authentic Chikankaari at Hazratganj, Aminabad and Chowk markets. You can also tantalize your taste buds at the delicious Tunde Kababs and biryani outlet.

So, please mark your dates for this academic feast. We promise to make your tour to Lucknow a truly memorable one. We are looking forward to your valued participation and eagerly awaiting your arrival.
